

Jane Jones
May, 2007

Whirlwinds Vision

I had this vision a couple of years ago, but it has never seemed like the time – I feel there is a 'now' on it at this time.

In the vision I saw small whirlwinds coming from different parts of Canada and I knew it was intercessors praying for the nation.

Each of the whirlwinds started to move to the centre of Canada. They seemed to gather momentum as they got nearer the centre. When they reached the centre they became like one giant tornado or whirlwind which spun very fast.

I saw a very large angel with a large spear or a rod in his hand and as the intercessors came together he plunged it into the ground and a spout of water like an artesian well sprang up from the centre followed by wells springing up all over Canada. My sense was that something needed to be broken or loosed in Winnipeg/Manitoba and that in turn would release the wells across the nation.